INFORMATION/BRIEFING MEMORANDUM FOR THE ASSISTANT SECRETARY – LAND AND MINERALS MANAGEMENT

DATE: July 26, 2017

FROM: Michael D. Nedd, Acting Director – Bureau of Land Management

SUBJECT: BLM Actions Associated with the National Monument Review

This memo provides an update on actions taken by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) pursuant to Executive Order 13792, “Presidential Executive Order on the Review of Designations Under the Antiquities Act,” dated April 26, 2017.

KEY FACTS

Stakeholder Positions: Executive Order 13792 and the resulting review of National Monuments has received substantial public interest. Over 1.46 million public comments were recorded through the Regulations.gov portal. Comments are still under review, however, and the total may be much higher (potentially exceeding two million comments). July 10th was the deadline for submission of public comments related to the review, and BLM staff continue to review the comments received.

Local and State government representatives from across the United States have expressed interest in the review. Members of Congress, State governments, national organizations, and local groups have expressed a range of opinions. While some comments demonstrate support for rescinding the National Monument designations, decreasing monument size, and/or making minor adjustments to Monument boundaries, the majority of comments focus on maintaining current National Monument designations and/or increasing the size of designations.

Public Lands Affected: Eighteen National Monuments—managed either wholly or in part by BLM—are included in the review, totaling more than 10 million acres. The BLM co-manages three National Monuments with the U.S. Forest Service (Bears Ears (Utah), Berryessa Snow Mountain (California), and Sand to Snow (California)), and two with the National Park Service (Craters of the Moon (Idaho) and Grand Canyon-Parashant (Arizona)). The Secretary of the Interior recently announced that Canyons of the Ancients (Colorado), Craters of the Moon (Idaho), and Upper Missouri River Breaks (Montana) are no longer under review, leaving 15 BLM-managed or co-managed National Monuments under review.

BACKGROUND

Under Executive Order 13792, the Department of the Interior (DOI) initiated a review of National Monuments designated under the Antiquities Act since January 1, 1996, and that exceed 100,000 acres. The review included a public comment period, Bureau of Indian Affairs Tribal Listening Sessions, leadership site visits, and the collection of data associated with each National Monument.

DISCUSSION

The BLM continues to assist with the National Monument review. BLM provided responses to the data call for all 18 Monuments. For co-managed units, BLM collaborated with the U.S. Forest Service and National Park Service on each request, though each agency submitting their respective individual companion documents. The BLM monument review team continues to work with DOI to address a suite of questions for each National Monument under review. BLM is also conducting briefings, supporting leadership site visits, responding to follow-up requests, and has provided a team of BLM staff to complete the review of public comments.

The BLM Washington Office, in coordination with BLM State, District, and Field Offices, has completed its review of 14 DOI-produced economic reports. The reviewed reports are for the following National Monuments: Bears Ears, Grand Canyon-Parashant, Grand Staircase-Escalante (Utah), Cascade-Siskiyou (Oregon), Sonoran Desert (Arizona), Ironwood Forest (Arizona), Canyons of the Ancients, Carrizo Plain (California), Mojave Trails (California), Sand to Snow (California), Gold Butte (Nevada), Basin and Range (Nevada), Vermilion Cliffs (Arizona), Organ Mountains-Desert Peaks (New Mexico), and Rio Grande del Norte (New Mexico) National Monuments. BLM is in the process of reviewing the DOI-produced economic reports for Craters of the Moon, Berryessa Snow Mountain, and Upper Missouri River Breaks National Monuments.

NEXT STEPS

BLM will continue to provide information as requested and to support the public comment review. DOI is expected to develop a final report including recommendations for the President.
